
Capone's Crumbling Mind Due to Vice Lord's Fast Life

Dread Paresis Germ Crept In Where Gangland Bullets Failed to Score

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 9.—The days he ruled Chicago—underworld from behind iron doors he caught up with Al Capone—pictured a gibbering simpleton today in a cot in the prison hospital on "The Rock"—Alcatraz Island.

Through the almost impenetrable barrier of censorship which isolates Alcatraz, the news filtered that he might be transferred to the federal hospital for insane criminals in Springfield, Mo.

It is said that he needed the necessary facilities to combat "paresis"—that dread disease that is reported to be crumbling the mind of the once proud vice lord.

But it was not "The Rock" which caused Capone's mental collapse. It wasn't the derisive jeers from the once toughest criminals in America in the prison yard that caused the one-time "Scarface" to become a gibbering simpleton.

VICTIM OF FAST LIFE

It was the fast life which Capone lived in his heyday that was catching up with him.

Somewhere, some time, during the days he ruled Chicago's underworld, protected from gangland bullets by vengeance, an unseen enemy stealthily crept past his machine-gunned army of guards.

They could not save Capone from this enemy.

They could not see it.

It took a long time to "get" Capone, but the hidden enemy was at "The Rock" didn't get him as they think they did today.

BREAD GRIM

That unseen enemy was already working into Capone's brain probably long before he was convicted.

Here's the Chicago crime overlord who made a mockery of justice—the "big shot" who piled up millions in his prohibition day career of murder, mayhem and extortion.

known to be one of hate-by-fellow convicts.

TOURIST GANG AT WORK

From time to time reports came here from "The Rock" that the Touhey gang, little enemies of Capone since prohibition days, was carrying out revenge through the "alien treatment" under which no prisoner speaks to the visitor.

There were reports that Capone was in solitary confinement after a flat fight.

In June, 1936, a convict attacked him with a knife and wounded him in the back.

Reports were that the Touhey gang "was at work."

They wanted to make sure, the underworld whippersnapper that Capone wouldn't leave "The Rock" the same smiling confident gang lord who entered it in 1934, two years after he had been transferred from the federal penitentiary in Alcatraz.

and sentenced to 10 years in federal prison back in 1932 for federal tax violation.

It was a dreaded germ now creeping in increasingly numbers into all parts of the "big shot's" body.

Doctors call it paresis—it is eating away the cells of Capone's brain.

The San Francisco psychiatrist who was summoned to Alcatraz last Sunday to treat Capone declared:

"Paresis caused destruction of the brain cells. It is entirely different from the condition known as 'scurvy,' which is a nervous condition."

"In the case of a man with paresis, confinement might hasten its progress. If the disease is discovered quickly enough, the malaria treatment (which has been administered Capone according to reports) is effective."

"Treatment, of course, cannot restore brain cells which have already been destroyed, but it can arrest the course of the disease."

The psychiatrist, consultant for Alcatraz, emphasized that his discussion of paresis did not mean that Capone was talking about his own case.

As Warden James A. Johnston of Alcatraz likewise would make no statement today concerning Capone's condition, he would not say whether Capone would be transferred to another federal hospital.

But he did indicate that he was certain Capone was not taking the disease.

BROTHERS UPRISIN

In underworld circles, however, the words hit a different key. Those who knew Capone in his heyday Chicago days just shook their heads and lifted their eyes a little.

It was a skeptical look.

They were tough yeggs who believed nothing unless they saw it with their own eyes.

According to a report from Chicago, Ralph Capone, Al's brother, was quoted as saying that his brother's illness had come as a surprise.

"Two of our brothers visited him February 1 and they found him feeble and looking good," Ralph Capone was quoted as saying.

HATED BY CONVICTS

Official word in Washington from the department of justice, however, confirmed reports that Capone "was under observation."

Before he was taken to the hospital, reports stated, he walked through the prison yard as though

Hail King's Visit to France as Political

Windsor, His Brother, Will Probably Be Absent at Time

LONDON, Feb. 9 (AP).—King George's state visit to France next June was considered here today to be a planned demonstration of the close political ties between Europe's leading democracies.

Political observers were quick to point out that the monarch's first journey outside the realm since his coronation last May would serve to balance Hitler's springtime visit to Paris.

The London press generally hailed as politically significant the announcement that King George and Queen Elizabeth would spend four days in France, visiting President Albert Lebrun in Paris from June 18 to July 1.

MAY MEET DUKE

Commentators here said the visit a logical step to symbolize the ties between Britain and France—Britain's bulwark against possible aggression from the continent.

Peasant Girl Envy of Reds; She's Stalin's 'Close Friend'

Leaps From Beet Farm To Kremlin Through Dictator's Aid

MOSCOW, Feb. 9 (INS).—Dark-eyed Maria Demchenko, 23 years of age, is the envy of every woman in Russia today.

Not because she is a Stakhanovite. Not because she is a deputy of the Soviet Parliament, nor because she holds the government's highest decoration, the Order of Lenin.

The reason for their envy is something greater and far more unobtainable—a close friendship with Josef Stalin, dictator of all the Russian.

And this friendship started because of Maria's peculiar ability to raise more sugar beets per acre than any other woman in the country.

SEMI-RETIRED STARTED IT. That wasn't exactly what made Stalin like her. Some people say it was her wonderful manner of smiling and her extreme frankness.

Ex-Hubby's Plans For Trip Told in Final Testimony

Despite declarations by the City Hospital trustees that they regard her as the outstanding case of nurse in the United States, an undercover movement, still seeking the capture of Miss Logan, is superintendent of nurses, a under way in the city council, the Boston Evening American learned exclusively today.

The plan is that the city council will take action within a week for an "investigation" and removal proceedings before the council committee on hospitals.

The committee is headed by Councilman John F. Dowd of Roxbury.

It was Dowd who introduced the resolution in the council last week asking Mayor Tobin to order the hospital trustees to "fire" Miss Logan and right assistant superintendent.

No investigation was requested, the only suggestion made in this council order that Miss Logan and her assistants be given any opportunity to defend themselves or tell their sides of the story. Simply, they were to be summarily discharged.

Unopposed opposition upon the part of the members of the trustees, headed by Chairman Joseph P. Manning, who was one of the first to defend Miss Logan and her regime, was believed today to have forced adoption of the present, as yet secret, plan.

With Dowd, who is leading the movement against her, presiding over the council committee on hospitals that will investigate the charges—Dowd's charges—however, considerable confusion was being expressed in City Hall circles today as to just what form the "investigation" will take.

Whether Mayor Tobin is in favor of the "investigation" was not disclosed. The Boston Evening American, however, learned on good authority that the mayor knows of the movement. If he has not given it his approval, neither has he voiced disapproval.

Present undercover plans, the Boston Evening American learned, are to launch the investigation with public hearings in Faneuil Hall possibly next Wednesday. The city council has been meeting in Faneuil Hall during repairs to the city hall council chamber.

Already, it was learned, student and graduate nurses at the hospital are being contacted and promised protection if they will come forward and testify at hearings.

Dowd's charges against Miss Logan and her assistants last week were threefold.

INVITED HERE
First, that Miss Logan and her assistants have been imported from other states.

Second, Chairman Manning of the hospital board of trustees reported that Miss Logan, former head of the nursing school at Ohio County Hospital in Chicago, was treated purposely to come to Boston because of her outstanding national reputation and was given free hand in selecting her assistants as to get the best staff she could obtain from the price of money throughout the country.

Third, Dowd charged Miss Logan and her assistants with "despoticism" and "wrecking" the morale of Boston City Hospital.

It is around these "despoticism" charges that an investigation is expected to be conducted.

MR. AND MRS. WALTER TURGEON

Secrets were exchanged by a Salisbury sister and brother which revealed two elopements. Edith Decie called her brother William and told him that she had eloped, in September, March, with Walter Turgeon of Amesbury, at Seabrook, N. H. Not to be outdone with news-discovering the brother confessed that in December he went to Seabrook to take Josephine Kury as his wife. Both couples picked the same judge to marry them in the New Hampshire town.

Sister-vs.-Sister Balm Suit Is Given to jury

Money was on object to William A. Guyette, whose love is valued at $150,000 by his wife, it was testified today in Federal Court as the allegation of effective suit she brought against her sister was given to the jury.

Testimony was concluded and the jury retired to the room from Judge Sweeney at 11:25 a. m.

In fact, according to Earl Proctor, Rochester, N. Y., bookkeeper, when the wind blew away a substantial amount belonging to Guyette on New Year's Eve in 1935, he testified it off with the assertion: "I've got plenty of money. I'm going away with Bertha."

Bertha is Mrs. Bertha McDewitt, Boston widow and defendant in the suit brought by Mrs. Ada Guyette, Rochester policewoman, and divorced wife of Guyette.

FRIEND OF GUYETTE
Proctor appeared as a rebuttal witness for the plaintiff following the conclusion of defense testimony.

He said he was a friend of the Guyettes when they lived in Rochester and declared that on several occasions Guyette told him of his affection for his sister-in-law.

Guyette is now a boarder at Mrs. McDewitt's Mountfort street, Rock Bay, home. His wife attorney may be the star boarder, but Mrs. McDewitt and Guyette himself denied this asserting his status was no different from that of eight other boarders at the dwelling.

Gun-Girl Denies All, in Lineup; Held in $1500

$2500 Bonds Ordered For South End Man On Same Charge

Just as steadily as she had claimed yesterday that she was David J. "Boss" Brown slain and had participated in many holdups, blind 25-year-old Mildred of South Boston denied it all today in a police headquarters lineup.

She denied it all, except the presence of a nickel-plated revolver in her handbag, and she insisted that must have been put there by the South End man in whose apartment she spent an hour on Monday night.

HOLDUP ARRAIGNED
Later today, in municipal court, the girl and the man, Edward F. Hogan of Waltham street, were arraigned on charges of illegally possessing the revolver.

She was held in $1500 for a hearing February 23 and Hogan was held in $2500 for the same date, while the girl's mother, Dolores street, South Boston, appeared in the courtroom.

Like was eager yesterday to impress with her story of being a pugilist a girl, and she was picked up and arrested in several holdup kidnapes, Mildred was equally eager under the police lineup spot.

She had told "all these wild stories" yesterday she declared to Lieutenant Edward Keating.

Because the police very frankly told me I was in on all those cases."

DENIES KNOWING HERE
Isolated, however, despite his continued denial, that she had known the South End man and had been going around with him for a year.

When the man was placed in the lineup he continued to deny knowing her and repeated that she had picked him up Monday night, feigning intoxication and saying she had no place to sleep. So he took her to his room.

The gun she said she had found in a vacant Dorchester house several years ago while he was engaged in cleaning the house. He has never been in any holdups, he said, and a doctor's forefinger found in his car were given him by a sister in pawn.

Dr. David Rosenfeld, who was kidnapped last week and his car was found in a vacant house at a Charlestown "old park" was present at the lineup and said the forefinger found in the car were not his.

HEARD OFFICERS TALKING
Asked in the lineup where she had obtained all the information regarding holdups she had said she had taken part in, Mildred answered naively that she had picked it up from hearing the police officers talking.

She had been lucky in one or two state of guesswork also in connection with these holdups, she said. Police said they would hold her and Mildred and the man in connection with the $1500 ransom case, possession of the nickel plated revolver.

Lost Envoy Stirs Action by Soviets
BUCHAREST, Rumania, Feb. 9 (AP)—The Soviet legation announced today that all its officers, including the consulate, would remain closed until the mystery surrounding the disappearance of the Rumanian envoy, Jodor Butescu, is solved.

Rumanian officials suspect that Soviet Russia's own secret police, the GPU, is responsible for Butescu's disappearance. Attacks on the legation, however, believe the charge that Butescu was kidnapped by white Russians.

Hope Dare Freed In 'Dixie' Arrest
PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 9 (AP)—A charge of being a suspicious character was dismissed today against red-haired Hope Dare, Broadway showgirl friend of J. Richard "Dixie" Darr.

The girl had been held to $3000 bail since she was taken into custody a week ago when she was and a companion, George Weinberg, were captured in her West Philadelphia apartment. Darr and Weinberg were jailed in default of $300,000 bail.

Admits Death Blow to Ex-Star

NEW YORK, Feb. 9 (AP)—Without any indication of fear or remorse, William Loftus stood in the police lineup today and admitted he caused the death of Mrs. Harriet Brown Nislen by hitting her with his fist at the climax of a wild drinking bout.

Loftus, a saxophone player who has a wife and child in Astor Park, N. J., was in the hotel room, midtown apartment where the nude and badly bruised body of Mrs. Nislen, former California high-diving champion, was found yesterday.

According to police, he said he had known Mrs. Nislen, member of a prominent California family, for some time and had exacted money during his apartment drinkings.

The night, police said he told them, Mrs. Nislen began quarreling with him, because he wanted to put her two rate out, and hit him with a bottle. Police asserted he admitted striking her in retaliation.

Fasting Dean's Child In Same Hospital
MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 9 (AP)—The 10-year-old daughter, Margaret, 13, was taken to the hospital today where the fastidious Dean is recovering from the effects of 22 days of fasting.

A physician said the child had appendicitis and an operation would be necessary.

Confine Patients Hurlled From Car, At Medfield

Acting on orders of Governor Hurley, Dr. Clifton T. Perkins, commissioner of mental diseases, today took steps to confine Medfield State Hospital inmates to the hospital grounds.

The action resulted from complaints of 73 residents of Medfield, Dover and Sharon, who want "high wire fence" erected around the hospital.

Dr. Perkins had no comment to make on what means he would employ except to express doubt that wire fence would be legal.

The complaint from surrounding towns charged inmates hurled stones at passers and that children had to be kept indoors in fear of possible attacks.

Medfield State Hospital was the scene of two inmate slayings a fortnight ago and the commission on taxation and public expenditures recommended that the hospital be transferred to the state general hospital that all well inmates be moved to other institutions.

John Mack, 37-year-old, Texan, jury patient who ran amok, killing four inmates and wounding another, was indicted by a Middlesex county grand jury on four counts of first-degree murder.

New Hatpins Echo Gay 90's

NEW YORK, Feb. 9 (AP)—Men will take women's hat styles as right back where they were last generation, for behold, the hatpins are here again!

Hatpins like those which adorned the American movie in 1920s and 1930s days appeared on some new spring fashions shown here last night to 1930 fashion experts.

The 1938 hatpin is a little fancier than the mid-tube hat-headed ones. Some of the new ones are topped with clustered rhinestones or made of carved glass.

Other style notes from the show: "Gibson Girl" hats are back. Flowers are fashionable. No are nice. No are chic style.

Constance Thayer to Wed Soon
In Worcester Ceremony

By BETTY ALDEN

THE AFTERNOON of Friday, February 25, will find a number of Boston socialites wedding their way toward Worcester where they have been invited to attend the wedding of Constance Thayer to David Cleveland Cory.

The prospective bride, who is the daughter of Mrs. Charles Martin Thayer of Cedar street, Worcester, has selected that date for her wedding ceremony, which will be held in All Saints Church at four o'clock.

Following the ceremony the bride couple will receive their relatives and intimate friends at a small reception at Mrs. Thayer's home.

Mr. Cory, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Cory of Englewood, N. J., will take his bride to Englewood to live.

They will be at home there after April 1, at 301 Botham avenue.

Miss Thayer, daughter of the late Charles Martin Thayer of Worcester, and granddaughter of Judge Adin Thayer, was educated at the Bancroft School, Mill Academy and Smith College, where she was a member of the class of 1934.

She is a member of the Chilton Club of Boston and the Worcester Junior League.

Mr. Cory prepared for college at Phillips Andover Academy and graduated from the Sheffield Scientific School of Yale University in 1934.

He is a grandson of the late J. Cleveland Cady, well known New York architect, and of the late David U. Cory of Englewood.

The engagement of Miss Thayer and Mr. Cory was announced last June.

Bachelors to Entertain at Dance

NATHANIEL SALTONTALL, who has been referred to many times as Boston's most eligible bachelor, is one of the seventeen eligibles comprising the committee for the brilliant Bachelors' Ball, which will be held at the Somerset Hotel Friday evening, February 15.

The dance will be held from 11 till 4, giving thoughtful young hostesses plenty of time to entertain their friends at dinner before going on to the Somerset.

Other prominent bachelors on the committee, which has secured Ruby Newman's orchestra to play for dancing, are David Ames, Phoenix Bellamy, Chandler Birelow, William A. Coolidge, Edward S. Brewer, J. Randolph Burke, Robert Cutler, Franklin Dexter and Devesa Haman.

Still others are Nathaniel Hamlen, John E. Lawrence, Ronald T. Lyman, Jr., J. Harleston Parker, William S. Patten, Charles H. Stockton and John O. Stubbs.

Engagement Is Announced

CHARLES STOREY, JR., has lost his chance of being eligible for the Bachelors' Ball committee... since his engagement to Polly Forbes-Johnson of New York was announced yesterday.

The future Mrs. Storey attended Bennington College and is now studying in New York, where her fiancé is taking post graduate courses at New York University.

Mr. Storey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Storey of Jamaica Plain.

He graduated from Harvard last June and is a brother of Susan Storey, one of the popular debutantes of the season.

Gertrude Storey, and of Anderson Storey.

ELIZABETH WARE, daughter of Mr. Charles E. Ware of Beacon Hill, is pictured in hunting costume with her fox terrier pet which she will exhibit in the Eastern Dog Club show on Washington's Birthday. Shepley Hill Dixie, alter terrier in the saddle bag, rides there during a fast hunt run.

She has invited his friends to subscribe, so many married couples, as well as deb and post deb, are on the roster of guests.

Rehearsal For Show

Arboretum Club Makes Merry at Fete

Club Fetes Stars

Star-Studded Program for Guests

With Mrs. William B. McNulty offering some very apt introductory remarks, a group of politicians, civic-minded gentlemen and engaged club members made their debut at the Arboretum Club supper dance at the Hotel Somerset last evening.

The affair was practically Mrs. McNulty's swan song as president of the group. She's retiring this spring after many successful years as leader of the organization.

Last night's party was a soft green lace frock with insets of sequin trimming.

Although Mrs. Alexander Calais was the evening's official chairman, she had the invaluable aid of some capable helpers. Her frock of soft green satin was combined with steel-cut beads while Mrs. G. Frank McDonald, who's prominent in the club world, chose a specialty of figured satin.

HOTTEST AT DINNER

Mrs. A. A. Graham cut quite an attractive figure in her dusty pink bolero frock as she entertained a score of friends at her table. Before coming on to the dance she had been hostess at a large dinner.

Among her guests were Mr. and Mrs. James McManus, the latter wearing a gown of white crepe and spanglers.

Mrs. Charles Sheehan and Mrs. Frank Crotwell, who was smart in an unadorned frock of silver lace.

The mid-winter ice proved something of a hot orange party for Mr. and Mrs. William Riley of Milton, who will the first of March for Athens, Greece, where Mr. Riley continues his architectural survey.

James McManus called the stop for one of those ever-popular novelty dances while his wife watched proceedings from her table.

Numbered among them were Mrs. John B. Cassidy, serene as a statue in the bud of her brown crepe, who Mrs. John Doyle, one of the club vice-presidents, chosen flower child.

GAY PARTIES

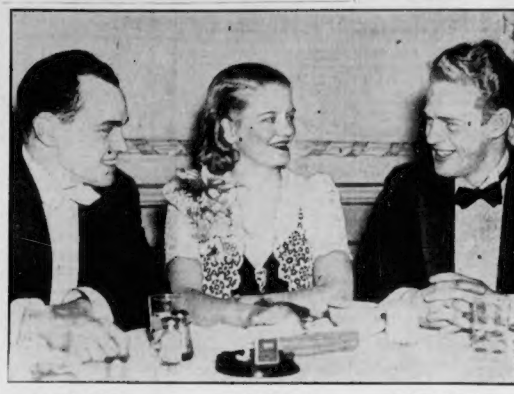

It was a pretty gay evening for the Arboretum Club party which was grouped about a large table. Kay Hourahan, starched while her black crepe was accompanied by her fiancé, Larry McHugh, Mary Glavin was another member of the merry group.

Black crepe turned to Mrs. McGowan's alter. Also attending the mid-winter soiree were Mrs. Jack McCarthy and Mrs. Vincent Brady, the pair smilingly strolled in black crepe with similar adornment.

Mary Miller, who was escorted by her fiancé, Larry McHugh, was another member of the merry group.

RUD HOYE ("GRIFFY"), KATHERINE HOURIHAN, and EDWARD GIERNEY ("BRAD TALTON") fame, stepped out of their roles in Boston's great drama to dine and dance with the Arboretum Club at its annual supper dance last night at the Hotel Somerset.

They were snapped between dances chatting with Katherine Hourihan, one of the group's most active members, whose engagement to Lawrence McHugh was recently announced. On the left is Rud Hoye, who portrays the role of gangster Al at the right is Edward Gierney, who plays the acorn of wealth in the Boston Evening American serial.

MRS. JOHN MCGOWAN and JOHN MCGOWAN among the good-looking couples attending last evening's get-together of the Arboretum Club were Mr. and Mrs. John McGowan, Jr., of Jamaica Plain. Mrs. McGowan was Kay Kelly until her wedding last fall.

Aristos Members Plan Gay Sports Week-End

Whether it rains, snows or freezes won't make a great deal of difference to the Aristos Club girls intent on a gay week-end of outdoor fun.

The affair gets under way Saturday when they take off from Park square via bus at 1:15 for a day and a half of outdoor activity at Cotuit Pond in New Hampshire.

An entertaining calendar of outdoor fun has been arranged by the committee headed by Charlotte O'Donnell.

Dog Elite Await Annual Show

New England's canine aristocrats have placed two big paw marks on the squares denoting February 21 and 22 on their kennel calendars.

For on those two days they have their work cut out for them. Mrs. William Dexter of Marlborough street has already entered her dog in the Eastern Dog Club's 25th annual show, which is to be held in Mechanic Building.

Out in the Justin Greene kennel in Hamilton two pups are awaiting the zero hour when their youthful mistress, Joan Greene, will take them into the judging ring.

Mrs. Richard E. Danneberg of Weston has entered a half dozen wire-haired dachshunds in the show, and Miss Grace Stuckey of Medford will show three Shetlands.

Nathaniel Clark has entered his Scottish deerhound, and Reg and Tuckerman, Jr. will show bull terriers.

Society Notes

MRS. C. DENNIE BOARDMAN is a member of the committee for the Tropical Ball to be held at Whitehall, Palm Beach, Fla., on February 25. This ball which is being planned by the fashionable winter visitors in Palm Beach will benefit the Children's Fund of the Salvation Army.

DORIS COLLINS of Brookline will soon leave for Ithaca, N. Y., to be the guest of Lloyd Church, Jr., of New York City at the Phi Sigma Kappa house. The three days of festivities known as Junior Week at Cornell University will begin tomorrow.

F. Donald Buisman chosen Mrs. Gertrude McCarron was smart in one of those spring stipples while Mrs. Harold Allen, one of the club's foremost socialists, wore a white crepe with gold ornaments.

THE FAMILY ALBUM

Everyone likes to pore over the old family album. Here is a page from the family album of Boston Society showing three tennis stars. Do you recognize them? They are identified on page 14.

Stork Visits Chicago

ONCE ANNOUNCEMENT of the arrival of a daughter in the Errett Van Nice household was flashed across the distance from Chicago to Boston. Mrs. George H. Swift lost no time packing her bag and boarding the first train for the Windy City.

There are springlike signs of activity around Crowhaven, the Manchester estate of Rev. and Mrs. William B. Dewar.

For younger members of the family who live in Boston have been notified that Papa and Mama Dewar are going to rush the season a bit and open their seaside home on March 1. They have been in New York City for most of the winter.

Notre Dame Tea Next Sunday

REDBURY ACADEMY of Notre Dame alumnae will entertain at tea Sunday at the school in Redbury.

Entertainment for the affair will consist of a delightful musical program presented by two of Boston's most outstanding boy soloists, William McCart and Raymond Davis.

Society Notes

Lieut.-Gov. Kelly in Stirring Plea Backs Townsend Old Age Plan

State House Jammed At Hearing on Petition

W. A. Sullivan, assistant attorney general, announced at the state house today that the petition for the Townsend old age plan, introduced by Representative Francis J. Kelly, has been placed on the calendar for the first hearing on the petition.

The petition, which was introduced by Kelly, calls for the establishment of a federal government old age pension plan, to be known as the Townsend old age plan.

Kelly back his bill. "I feel that this bill is of sufficient importance that a man should open himself to the possibility of being called a fool," he said. "I feel that people who live to be 100 years old deserve a reward, and I know employers do not want old people working for them. Something must be done."

The Townsend plan is absolutely correct and I am one gentleman holding statehood after not afraid to come out in favor of the plan."

SENATOR MILES SPEAKS. Senator Charles F. Miles, of Brockton, today, when a hearing was held in the Massachusetts legislature to memorialize Congress for legislation similar to the Townsend plan in caring for the aged.

Typical Townsend plan is shown in the foreground as this view was made at Gardner Auditorium, State House, today, where a hearing was held in an endeavor to get the Massachusetts legislature to memorialize Congress for legislation similar to the Townsend plan in caring for the aged.

About CHAPPED LIPS—

Mr. Tangle says:
Winter often means chapped lips—and if you are bothered by the way your lips crack and peel, stick to your lips—your lips will enjoy the Tareyton Lip Lotion. It never sticks to your lips. Moreover, Tareyton has finer, milder tobacco.

HERE'S A DOG THAT RATES THE "Mark of Merit" as surely as the Old Quaker that's guarded for you by our "51 Whiskies of Quality." One dawn this pup smelled smoke... went into action... as our inspectors go into action to check Old Quaker quality. Dashing upstairs, he nosed open a bedroom door, leapt on the bed, awakened his master... when he came from room to room, roused the family... refusing to leave the house until every human was safe, outdoors. So Old Quaker's human watchdogs refuse to let a bottle leave the distillery until it has passed our 51 checks for quality. Result... a whiskey you'll double-check for richness and smoothness... heads up whiskey that's heads above the crowd, and... at an increase in your checkhead.

'I'm Shooting High,' Croons Mr. Ganslen

Here's a gentleman who really believes in the current song hit. Richard "Dick" Ganslen, Columbia's ace pole vaulter, is always shooting high. In fact, he'll try to reach the sky when he competes in the B. A. A. games Saturday.

Bunker Hill Pin League Going At Hot Pace

It was a bowling fan in Charleston who said: "Bowling leagues may come and go, but the Bunker Hill League goes on just the same." Yes, they are mighty proud of the 16-team Bunker Hill League out of that section of Boston, which is made up from members of the local leading business firms, social clubs and fraternal orders.

It is a bunch of good fellows that get together each week in friendly contact, yet with the keen rivalry and desire to carry their respective teams to victory.

Right now the Bunker Hills are in the thick of a league battle for the high honors and annual prizes to be awarded the final winners.

The Alerts, Yee Wows, the "400's" and Jackson teams are in close contention for the lead, but here the Winslow holds the individual single of 147, and Cronin the three-string pinfall of 250. Burton and Whidley are racing heads apart for the season average, each having 101 to his credit.

To settle an argument of long standing the Summer street long and girls of Stoughton's will tackle the Arch street Bunkers, however the girls from Stoughton ally on Thursday evening.

Captain Phil J. J. of the Summer street's is saying:

"I can't think my Brass Balls will win the match by fully a hundred pins. I've had them in active training for the past two months for just this match."

Not often in a ten-team league that three of the teams are solid in a tie for the lead, but this is the case in the Boston Newspaper League with Clubs A, B and C. Monitor is at 49 and 27 in the week and last columns for each. And the Record is right there, too, because at a point back, the Monitor's team named.

They are the most lively bunch of 10 splitters, as 16 of the members have season averages of 100 to 111. Matty Treaster, of the Monitor No. 1, having the top record, and his team, the Monitor, are string total of 276.

"We don't think we can do much bragging in holding the single and three-string averages of 170 and 190, while one of our members, John, has the single string high of 138."

Secretary Dugan of the Bank & Trust League, in showing more speed on the alley than he has ever before. He not only leads the pack in averages, with 107, but recently subdued enough pins in three strings to change the team records. Powers is the crown bowler in the singles with 136. Shawmut Bank proves the high quality of the league by burning up a total of 1820 pins, and the National gained the applause with their single string of 353.

"Why not make a mention of our March in the News League?" says a bowling fan, and goes on to say that the News League league single of 130, three-string of 268 and individual average of 100. "We think like the boys," is the way the letter winds up.

Forbes Recalls Steel Pact Prediction

Statement Made In Column of December 24

By B. C. FORBES

"I understand that the agreement between United States Steel Corporation and the CIO will be renewed when it expires at the end of February."

That statement was made in this column on December 4.

It was then revealed that the agreement, which was not extrajudicially made, but was made entirely fairly in the CIO dealings with the corporation, and while heads of some other CIO unions had been able to exercise control over the following.

MUCH HAS HAPPENED

Of course, much has happened since that time. The CIO has encountered very hard times. President Roosevelt had advocated the lowering of prices, but with the opposition to the lowering of wages. President Benjamin F. Fairbanks of the steel corporation has declared that the steel corporation will not lower steel prices without lowering wages. The whole country has been fed from economic reaction.

The steel corporation has had to find a way to get the operation of the present plan—there has not been one all-around strike in any of its plants, and the last 12 months. Nor have the workers had any real success in their demands.

Of course, had property been blooming, the CIO doubtless would have fought for greater concessions than it made last year. It was stipulated in the agreement that the union must not "intimidate or coerce" its members, and the "check-off" system—that is having employees pay "dues" membership on company time—was not allowed.

AMBITION OF CIO LEADERS

The ambition of CIO leaders is to bring about, as speedily as feasible, the closing of the "check-off" system—that is having employees pay "dues" membership on company time—was not allowed.

When the football season rolls around, Newburyport high will be added to the list of schools to be played in new stadiums. Present plans call for new stadiums for both sides of the gridiron, with seating accommodations for over 6000 fans.

Low Dollar Wages Stamp System Favored by Rukeyser

Honey, in Reply to Reader, Says Cost of Living Determines Status

By LEWIS HANEY

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—A Jamaica, N. Y., reader says: "As a prof. of economics, you must know that low wages mean poverty and misery."

As a professor of economics, I know what "low wages" mean. I know that a man can get a large sum of money, and yet find that prices are so high that he cannot live on it. I know that when money wages are low, prices are usually low, too, so that the small amount of money received goes just as far as the larger sum did when prices were high.

Most emphatically, neither economists nor any other persons know that low dollar wages mean poverty. We know that if the people are poor, it is because of low living, 2-3 times the amount of money worked per year, and 3-4 times the amount of money worked per hour. High hourly wages rates may mean a large sum of money, but low annual earnings, and poverty.

This same man wrote that he thinks that 1932 proves his case. He thinks that the real cause of the depression is the low dollar wage, low wages and a free hand for all. The result, says he, is that the cost of living is high. But let us look at the record for the year 1932. The average cost of living in 1932 was 100. The average cost of living in 1933 was 100. The average cost of living in 1934 was 100.

Wage rates, however, were relatively high in 1932. The average hourly wage rate was 100. The average hourly wage rate in 1933 was 100. The average hourly wage rate in 1934 was 100.

Furthermore, in 1932 a dollar bought over 20 per cent more food than it does now. In 1932 a dollar bought over 20 per cent more clothing than it does now. In 1932 a dollar bought over 20 per cent more housing than it does now.
